Kumusta

There are schools that teach the Filipino martial arts throughout the world. These are schools from the FMAdigest schools database.

Last year the FMAdigest put out a Special Issue on all the schools listed in the schools database, and found a lot of misinformation. Why was this? Mostly because schools did not keep information on their schools current; well what can the FMAdigest say only that if not told then it does not know. And if the school information is out of date or no longer open, what can this indicate? The owner or representative is not interested in up-to-date advertisement? Lazy, irresponsible, or does it just show a lack of professionalism and pride?

The FMAdigest when receiving school information ensures that the school has some sort of Filipino martial arts program in its teachings. If not then it does not go into the schools database.

The FMAdigest is for Filipino martial arts only. Yes it is a fact that schools teach Japanese, Chinese, Indonesian, etc in their school however as long as there, is some Filipino martial arts being taught then the schools information will be entered into the database.

Take a look to see if your school is listed or if there is a school near you. If not listed then most likely no one has submitted it.

So as they say let your fingers do the walking and find a school near you. Even when visiting outside of your country visit some of the schools listed if in the area. Build your skill, your abilities, and your knowledge.

Please visit the FMAdigest schools database, if the school does not have a website you most likely will find an Email address you can use to contact the school.

Maraming Salamat Po

Culture, Customs and Traditions

The FMAdigest believes that to truly know an art, one must know something of the history, culture, customs, and traditions of the country that the art comes from. In the issue Culture, Customs and Traditions in the Then and Now section is a brief history bring you information about the land and its people, and highlights some aspects of history, that may not have been covered before in other issues, up to today in the Philippines.

There is a short piece on what makes Filipinos unique and what links them back to their Philippine culture and heritage, then information about the language or should I say languages of the Philippines, and also a little about Philippine weddings culture and superstitions.

Finally throughout the year in the Philippines there are (besides barrio fiestas), scheduled fiestas that are celebrations that have tradition and really brings out the cultural side of the country.

Philippine Flag

The FMAdigest put together with the help of the Philippine Country Guide, some of the history of the Philippines with the flags that have been flown. This is not a minute-by-minute history, but a general history, and it was thought that in learning the Filipino martial arts also some other aspects of the Philippines and its history, culture etc should also be known.

Philippine Healing Arts

The FMAdigest was once requested to put out an issue about the healing arts of the Philippines. With the help of Virgil J. Mayor Apostol, Gat Puno Abon "Garimot" Baet and some information from Stuart-X-Change and the book "Hilot-Ancient Therapy of the Philippines" published in 2001, by the Ancient Publishing House, Batangas City, Philippines. The Issue materialized. So enjoy and gain knowledge about the alternative medicine of the Philippines.

Traditional Musical Instruments

The Philippines, being a large archipelago, has musical styles that vary from region to region. Traditional Filipino music typically employs a combination of musical instruments belonging to the percussion, wind, and string families. These instruments are usually made of bronze, wood, or bamboo.

And as many know it was a way for the Filipino to hide his martial arts practice in performances during the Spanish rule. Even today some Filipino martial artists use music in demonstrations of their art. The rhythm of the beat and the tempo all play a part in the dramatization of a form. The Traditional Philippine Instruments which is part of the heritage and culture. As time has passed of course the Philippines has progressed and plays all the popular instruments and styles of music of yesterday and today. But before being so influenced by the outside world, the Philippines had its own unique style and sounds.

FMA Historical Fact or Fiction

Finally some of the historical facts that have been recoded or if one does not agree fiction that has been passed on from generation to generation. That is up to the reader.

Now what may be considered very controversial is the article in this special issue entitled, "The Code of Kalantiaw". Philippine history biggest hoax which; you the reader will make the decision if you believe it or not.

Businesses Registered in the Philippines

With the help of Punong Lakan Garitony Nicolas the MAMFMA Founder, the FMAdigest was able to obtain the listings of the Business Name Registration System (BNRS) and the Securities and Exchange Commission of the Philippines.

Also often asked is where to buy equipment, books, videos or sometimes a particular service while in the Philippines. So now the question is answered and I know there maybe some practitioners that maybe registered, but they did not show up on the lists of the Business Name Registration System (BNRS) or the Securities and Exchange Commission of the Philippines.

Philippine Weaponry

Marc Lawrence did an excellent job putting together a very good list and has added some comments about weapons that are known and used in the Philippines. It is for sure there might be one or two that were not mentioned or that a further explanation could have been given, however you can only give what you get, find, borrow etc...

Now once you have read through the weaponry of the Philippines, comes the shopping area, where you most likely through one of the dealers can find what sparks, your fancy, either in wood, training metal or the real thing. And if you do not see it in their merchandise then there are a couple of the sellers that will manufacture what you want if you contact them and let them know. Listed are sellers from the Philippines, Europe, and the United States.

FMAPulse.com is an exciting new website dedicated to the Filipino martial arts. It is the mission of the FMA Pulse to help promote, educate and serve as a resource for the current and new generation of FMA enthusiasts.

The team at FMAPulse.com is presenting Filipino martial arts to the world via the internet using Web 2.0 technology. Users can interact with one another in a setting much like Myspace or Facebook, only that we are focused primarily on the Filipino martial arts. This on-line community will give users around the world the ability to share, learn, teach and stay current with what's going on in the world of the Filipino martial arts.

Not only will this online social network cater to practicing Filipino martial arts students and instructors, but also to anyone interested in learning about the Filipino martial arts and culture. Aside from connecting people together, FMAPulse.com will be offering viewers their own personal blog, articles, upcoming Filipino martial arts events and monthly video or audio pod-casts of different Filipino martial arts instructors and their respective styles. This will give viewers a chance to get to know these leading Filipino martial arts instructors and their styles on a more in-depth level.

We at FMAPulse.com invite you to participate, share your views and ideas so we can all unite to help further promote the Filipino martial arts in a positive way across the globe.

Sincerely,
The FMA Pulse Team

Special Edition FMAmagazines - Printed (Past & Present)

Everyone is so impressed with printed martial arts magazines, here is an issue that brought back memories of some that have been printed and sold either in stores or by subscription. Especially of course Filipino martial arts magazines which were or are dedicated to the Filipino martial arts and also other martial art magazines that have articles from time to time in them.

The FMAdigest thought it would be interesting to talk to Grandmasters, Masters and Punong Guros of the Filipino martial arts in the Philippines and ask some questions. All the schools listed in the FMAdigest schools database Philippines and some others that were not listed were contacted and asked these questions, some refused to answer any of the questions, some would give an opinion but did not want it printed, some I guess were too busy, and some answered some of the questions, and finally some answered all the questions. The answers to the questions are the thoughts and feelings of the practitioners that answered them. But the listed Grandmasters, Masters and Punong Guros did not mind saying what was on their mind.

Education is very important in the Filipino martial arts, for without it the future will not have the practitioners that will have the skill and knowledge that is deserving of the Filipino martial arts and the history will be lost.

The FMAdigest has always believed in educating anyone interested in the Filipino martial arts and especially the young practitioners.
